

Jean-André Fayolle

Corporate Senior Vice President Packaging, Consumer Goods and Construction Adhesives

Born in Le Puy, France, on August 20, 1950

Jean Fayolle is married and he and his wife have 3 children

Career

- Since 2008 Corporate Senior Vice President Industrial Adhesives
- 2007-2008 Head of Project Management Office for the integration of the National Starch businesses into Henkel
- 1999-2007 SBU and Regional Management positions as Corporate Senior Vice President within the Adhesive Technologies business sector
- 1997-1998 Senior Vice President responsible for the Industrial Packaging Adhesives Europe
- 1993-1997 Director of the Adhesives business of Henkel France
- 1991-1992 General Manager of Teroson France
- 1987-1991 Purchasing Manager of Henkel France
- 1974-1987 Different Management Positions within Purchasing Division of Henkel France

Education/Vocational training

He studied chemistry at University of Amiens and graduated with a master's degree (Maîtrise de Chimie); studied business administration at "Institut d'Administration des Entreprises" (I.A.E.) of Lille and graduated with a business administration's degree "Certificat d'Aptitude à l'Administration des Entreprises" (C.A.A.E.)