

The easy-to-use correction roller

Unwanted scribble simply rolled away

A joy they may be, but parents let active children out of their sight at their peril: no sooner has mum turned her back than they start scribbling on those all-important documents that have been left on the table. But no biggie – provided that mums and dads have a ‘Pritt Correction Comfort Roller’ to hand. With it, those artful works of art can be made to disappear in a trice.

Parents need to get on – either with the housework or with their work at home. But kids left to their own devices will get up to all sorts of things to draw attention to themselves. And that can mean not just horseplay and ‘being loud’ but also applying newly acquired penmanship skills to important documents left lying around. So thank goodness for ‘Pritt Correction Comfort Roller’ and its ability to make the kids’ scribbles simply disappear.

The ergonomic roller with the sideways correction action is particularly easy to use, as well as being comfortable to hold. Plus it offers the proven quality of Pritt – the correction film is ‘dry’, enabling it to be written on immediately.

And incidentally: if the littl’uns themselves realize their mistake quickly enough, they can make good again in an instant with ‘Pritt Rolli Pop’, the colorful correction roller for young miscreants and careful kids alike. Then mum and dad don’t even need to know.

Further information: www.prittworld.com