Die attach technology and team collaboration propel materials leader to top ranking

Henkel wins Texas Instruments 2024 Supplier Excellence Award

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia – Henkel is proud to announce that it has won a Texas Instruments 2024 Supplier Excellence Award. The award marks the company's most prestigious level of supplier recognition.

"We are humbled and honored to be recognized by Texas Instruments with this distinction," says Wen Zhou, Corporate Vice President Electronics at Henkel Adhesive Technologies. "Winning this award is a testament to our team's expertise in die attach materials innovation, adherence to the most rigorous standards, and a collaborative, can-do mindset. Our partnership with Texas Instruments helps advance some of today's most cutting-edge analog and embedded semiconductors that are the essential building blocks of electronic systems. We are delighted to be a part of this consequential work."

With over 10,000 suppliers, Texas Instruments evaluates the companies across six areas: cost, environmental and social responsibility, technology, responsiveness, and assurance of supply and quality. With this framework of objective assessment, the best suppliers that exemplify TI's high standards for excellence are identified. This year, 19 suppliers were named Supplier Excellence Award winners.

"Henkel is thrilled to be among such an elite group of suppliers and deeply appreciative of Texas Instruments for recognizing our role with a 2024 Supplier Excellence Award," concludes Zhou. "We are excited about the future and know that together, we can push innovation even further!"
